Edition : 464th (July 2010)

INDOCHEMICAL

ECONOMIC STRUCTURE OF THIS COUNTRY MOVES INTO THE SECOND MOST POWERFUL ECONOMIC COUNTRY IN THE WORLD for international relations in all fields, in this 21st century, we are seeking for a new form and leave the old patterns, while the victim in searching of this new pattern is the China's currency of renminbi (yuan).

Financial policy of the China's government will be a process towards a balance point in Indonesia – China trade. Some observers indicate that the impact of China's policy will impact positively to the Indonesian economy because the value of a stronger Yuan (revaluation) will result in stock prices in China to become more expensive. HOW DOES THE IMPACT OF CHINA'S GOVERNMENT POLICY IN MAKING CURRENCY OF YUAN TO BE MORE FLEXIBLE FOR THE ECONOMY OF INDONESIA? See INDOCHEMICAL'S INDOCHEMMENTATOR in this 464th edition of June 2010.

IN THE INDUSTRIAL SECTOR, SULFUR is consumed by industries such as cane sugar, tires, steel and chemical (sulfuric acid). Whereas in the agricultural sector, sulfur is consumed by industrial fertilizers and fungicides as potential reserves in the country which is still quite large, while production is still relatively small and tend to fluctuate. The development of the INDUSTRIAL AND MARKETING of SULFUR IN INDONESIA from the Mining History, Potential Reserves, Production and Mining Activities, Development of Domestic Production, World Production, Import, Export, Supply, Consumption by Industrial Users, Consumption by Industry (Sulphuric Acid, Sugar, Tire Industry, and Others), World Consumption, Distribution Systems, Local Products, Import Products, Prices, Government Policy and Consumption Projections will be featured on the SPECIAL REPORT of this edition's Indochemical.

PT. INDONESIA ACIDS INDUSTRY (PT Indoacid) is one of the users of sulfur in the country which is big enough and engaged in industrial sulfuric acid and aluminum sulfate with a total production capacity of 127 000 tons per year. PT INDONESIA ACIDS INDUSTRY is a Foreign Investment Company (PMA), founded in 1969. For more details about the profile of PT INDONESIA ACIDS INDUSTRY (PT Indoacid), see its company profile in this edition.
